Instruction to Authors

Chiang Mai Medical Journal (Formerly Chiang Mai Medical Bulletin) is an official journal of the Faculty of Medicine, Chiang Mai University. It accepts original papers on clinical and experimental research that are pertinent in the biomedical sciences. The Journal is published 4 issues/year (quarterly). Original articles, short communication, case reports, review article, letters to the Editor and miscellany are welcome. All manuscripts submitted to Chiang Mai Medical Journal must not have been previously published (except in abstract form) or under consideration for publication elsewhere. Following publication, Chiang Mai Medical Journal reserves the copyright of all published materials and such materials may not be reproduced in any form without written permission from Chiang Mai Medical Journal. We strongly recommend that authors follow the guideline in manuscript preparation below. Failure to comply with the instruction will result in delay the processing of your paper.

Manuscript preparation

Submission a manuscript should include the following items:

1. A cover letter: Submit a cover letter indicating the type of the manuscript you submitted and specify that the manuscript has never been published or under the consideration for publication elsewhere. Also include a statement that all authors have read and approved the manuscript; alternatively, all authors should sign the letter, acknowledging responsibility for the work. Authors are highly encouraged to provide a list of two or more potential reviewers for their manuscript, with complete contact information including e-mail address.

2. Title page: As Chiang Mai Medical Journal uses a double-blind review processes, prepare your title page on the separate sheet. The title page should contain:
   2.1 Title of the manuscript
   2.2 The category of the manuscript submitted (original article, short communication, case report, review article, letter to the Editor or miscellany)
   2.3 A short running title of no more than 40 characters (including spaces)
   2.4 Authors’ names, their academic degrees, and their present affiliations
   2.5 Name of the corresponding author as well as his contact information (mailing address, telephone number, fax number, and e-mail address)

3. Main manuscript: The manuscript must be written in English or Thai. Prepare the manuscript double spaced, one side only, and leave an ample margin of at least 2.5 cm (1 in) on all sides of the page. A total of six figures and/or tables are allowed for each manuscript. We encourage the authors to use Times New Roman with a font size of 12 throughout the manuscript. The main manuscript should consist of:
   3.1 Title: Provide title of the manuscript both in Thai and in English.
   3.2 Abstract: For original article and short communications, provide a structured abstract of no more than 250 words, using the heading of objectives, methods, results and conclusions. For case reports, review article and miscellany; provide a non-structured abstract of no more than 150 words. The abstract must be submitted in both Thai and English.
   3.3 Key words: Provide up to six key words that reflect the content of the manuscript. This will facilitate it being found through internet searches. Key words should be given beneath the abstract.
3.4 Text: The text should be organized in the following order: Introduction, Methods, Results, and Discussion. Acknowledgements, References, Tables and Figures. Numbers that appear in numerical order should not exceed two decimal places.

3.5 Ethics: In reporting an experiment in human subjects or animal, authors must provide in the method section that the study was approved by the ethic committee or its equivalent, in which the work was undertaken and that it conforms to the provisions of the World Medical Association’s Declaration of Helsinki

3.6 Acknowledgments: Individuals who have made substantial contributions to the study, but are not included as authors should be acknowledged. The source of funding support must be stated.

3.7 Conflicts of Interest: Authors must state all possible conflicts of interest in the manuscript. If there is no conflict of interest, this should be stated as none.

3.8 References: List the references in consecutive, numerical order, as they are cited in the text. Use the Vancouver style. If the list of authors exceeds six, the first three authors followed by et al should be listed for those references. Abbreviate journal titles according to the style used in the Index Medicus.
